THOUGH the Hague Conference has been unproductive in greater matters, it; has at minds, and no doubt would disappear when least strengthened the cause of Arbitration in such seemingly lesser affairs as disputed boundaries. As a rule controversies re- is especially such a case as is most fitted to specting boundaries arise not from pre- | he submitted to the Hague Tribunal; and conceived ill-will, but from differences of this the more so as issues wiler than those opinion regarding the meaning of prior of either purty are likely to be involved agreements, frequently made when both unless such a course be taken. We believe parties were equally ignorant of the details | the Chinese Government has already state d of the country intersected; and so intentionally made in vague general terms, in the hope that when the time came for accurate not so clear, however, why Japan has not delineation the intention would be sufficiently clear. Of such a nature was the agreement made between England and Russin regarding the coast boundary between Alaska and British Columbia, which was loosely put down as following the summits of the coast chain of mountains. The real point in question which afterwards led to a very considerable divergence of opinion between the United States and Great Britain, namely the question of access to the sea, never having-occurred-to-either of the negotiators. When both the adjacent countries, Alaska and British Columbia, became | mestional Camden Town murder case, was of importance, the former having been acquired by the United States, and found to be rich in minerals, and the latter fal- distribution at Belilion Public School has been to contain the rich go'd field of Klondyke. this question of access from the sea became the pressing question of the day, and national feeling in both countries rose to such a pitch of intensity that war was openly spoken of on both sides. Neither party, of course, repudiated the original agreement made between Great Britain and Russia, but the question was: what did it mean? Practically it had no meaning when it came to be sifted, and this was the gordian knot that came before the arbitrators to unravel: Unfortunately the arbitrators were all Eng. lish or American, and the outside feelings of the two countries were reflected in the arbitration chamber, so that at last the inscluble knot had to be cut.

A not dissimilar controversy has arisen on the other side of the Pacific between China and Japan regarding the boundary between Manchuria and Korea, and as in the other, its importance hinges on the identical question of access to the sea-There are, however naturally important differences between the two cases, Japan 20.00 poses here as champion for Korea; but the Koreans perhaps have no practical British only by 510. The disproportion of 24.00 interest in the issue, it being a matter British seamen decreased, how ver, in the last of perfect indifference to them whether five years, so that there is a turn of the tide in or not China shall enjoy a direct out- British seamen's favour. look on the Pacific. Between Chiua and Japan this is, of course, the principal issue at stake. By the accepted principles of international law, a nation having a frontage on a navigable river has the inherent right to navigate it, and China sees that having, as she contends, a frontage on the Tumen river, an entrance to the Sea OUR CLARETS, INCLUDING THE of Japan would follow, which is view of the LOWEST PRICED, ARE OF EXCEPTIONAL | fact that she has large territorial issues in EVALUE, AND GUARANTEED TO BE the basins of the Sungary and Chulcha, otherwise inaccessible from southern sens. has become to her a matter of grave importance. Japan on the other hand would willingly see her neighbour and rival shut out from access to the Sea of Japan unless on such terms as Japan would be pleased to dictate. With interests so entirelyopposed, and national feelings on both study for three years. Yesterday invitations sides considerably excited, it is easy to see that neither is in a fit frame to enter on a calm discussion, and that force actual or at band would take the entire ground from reason or right. It is in effect a typical case of the difficulty intended to be surmounted by the establishment of the Hague Court of Arbitration. The boundary was more than a century ago defined by treaty, and it is mainly on the principles therein agreed on that the question would legally have to be decided ; for such a decision the Court is in every way fitted, and moreover has the as we showed some time ago, has made out a sufficient prima facie case to go to court Japan's claim has not as yet been stated in full, so that public opinion is quite open, > that a considerable area alongside their cally neutral ground, not to be peopled by either. This was conceived with the intention of thereby preventing any cause of trouble arising to disturb the good feeling existing. Times have so changed, in manner, too, for which neither was responsible, that this agreement has added another complication to be adjusted. Like t former it is one difficult or impossible of adjustment by interested parties, who can scarcely be expected to bring to the discussion sufficiently clear and open minds. It is however one that is familiar to judicia submitted to such. On the whole the Chientao dispute between China and Japan its willingness to take this course, and this, we think, it has acted wisely. It accepted the suggestion; which as at the moment physically the stronger Power, it would certainly become her to do. At the same time, we are not blind to the possibility. of the retort that if all the other Powers had agreed to arbitration on issues with China, in the past, more could now be

and the case would go to arbitration un

The case is, of course, complicated by a

The many friends of Chief Detective-Inspector Hauson will be sorry to learn of the death of his wife after a prolonged illness. Mrs. Hanson has been ailing for some seven or eight months, and the end came at ten o'clock yesterday morning in the Peak Hospital. Mr. Hanson has made many friends in the Colony, and their sympathy is with him in his bereavement.

At the Police Court yesterday a coolie was charged before Mr. F. A. Hazeland with the large y of two baskets of vegetables from the Hon. Mr. H. Keswick. He was further charged with the largery of two bamboo basksts from Mr. J. Rodger and with stealing a kettle. After hearing (h) evidence his Worship held. that the charges were proved and sentenced the defendant to fourteen days imprisonment and six hours' stocks on the first charge, fourteen days on the second and fourteen days on the third charge, the sentences to run consecutively.

The return relating to seamen employed in the British mercantile marine is, says "Engineering," not very sa islactory as regards Brilish seamon; even less so as regards England and Ireland, whose proportions are 30 each per 10,000 while Scotland supplies 56, and Wales 44 per 10,610. In the last fifteen years Lascars increased by 17,103, and foreigners by 11,022

Though celluloid is a convenient chemical preparation for the manufacture of a wide variety of ephomeral articles, its high in flummability is a constant danger, says "Chamber's Journal." In view of these circumstances particular interest is being centred in gelalith," a remarkable German invention which is now coming extensively into yogue, since it is non-inflummable, of great strength, and of wide value in its possible applications. The material is a perfectly odourless horn-like product, prepared from cassin, the cheese constituent of skimmed milk.

H.I.H. Prince Hiroyasu Fushimi of Japan attended by Lieut. J. Kiyokawa, A.D.C, arrived in the Colony yesterday by the steamer "Hakata gagement during the war. > Five cooles without occupation and having no fixed place of abode were charged before Mr F. A. Hezeland at the Police Court yesterday with asseult, and the hearing was adjourned until the man assaulted is able to leave hospital. The defendants met the complainant in a bawdy house at Yaumati and during the evening adjourned to the roof of the house. There a quarrel arose, and the defendants are alleged to have used iron bars and bolts to chastise the complainant. The police were called, and when they succeeded in effecting an entrance hastened on to the roof. One of the men became so alarmed that he leaped to the ground, a distance of sixty feet, escaping with no further injury than a sprained ankle. He was captured below, and the remainder of the coolies were also arrested. A woman who was in the house at the time was then charged with assaulting Constable A tewell, and with obstructling the police in the execution of their duty. She refused to open the door of the house to the police, and when they forced it tried to prevent them from reaching the roof; His Worship committed the defendant to juil for one month without the option of a flue.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DILLY PRESS."

SIR, -I hope that you will allow me to correct two points in the first letter upon the subject of Christian Science in last Saturday's issue, as they do a considerable, though doubtless unintentional, injustice to a local Christian Science practitioner. The first is an allusion to her action in a certain case as "Wanton interference." I am able to state on unimpeachable authority that the patient herself appealed in her extremity for Christian Science treatment, baving heard of the practitioner's arrival in Hongkong from a mutual friend in England. Secondly your correspondent attributes deplorable results to the advice of the practitioner that the patient should visit England. The practitioner did not give this advice, nor was she at any time consulted about the matter, which was settled after the patient had been so much benelitted as to have dispensed with further treatment. I shall always regret that her friends in England did not trust her to the same divine power as, it is well known, had so miraculously raised her in Hongkong from a dying state to one of health and happiness.

I do not propose on this occasion to reply to "Cleek" by detailing the numerous instances. in which I have myself been helped by Chris'ian Science, but any of your readers who wish for information can attend the Wednesday evening services of the Society (53) p.m. York Building, Chater Road) which are held for the express purpose of hearing accounts of local work. Lam, Sir, your obsdient servant,

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR,-In regard to the fact that the patient, or the husband, was asked to make a contribu. tion to the C. -. Society, I would point out that the gratitude of a person "apparently" healed of esneer would desire to find expression, hence it is unlikely that the suggestion preseded the desire. Secondly, it is a recognised thing in Christian Science that help should be appreciated in some way, not from a financial point of view but as a sign of gratitude, and because help is sometimes better appreciated if it is paid for. I know that Scientists very often help patients without any reward, when they consider such to be the more loving course, or when there is the possibility of a money payment interfering with. It was my necessity, soon after arrival in the Colony, and when that help had been most which I most strongly objected to upon the grounds that it was neither scientific nor right to prevent me showing my gratitude, especially practitioner made a gift of £20 to a Christian Science Church, or Society, while receiving payment of one do'lar for help given .- Yours

F. BROWNE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR. While I cannot wouch for the following, I believe the source of my information to Allan, seconded by Mr. James L. Greenway, the be quite trustworthy. A friend of a friend of mine had a dislocated knee, and a local Christian-Science healer undertook to mend matters on condition that the bandages were removed and further medical allentrons dispensed with. After a short interval strenuous "thought," the healer told the pa. which the company are inaugurating arrived with the immediate result of a bad fall and a bandage, and the patient had extra pain.

SIR, As a student of the lore of th Hermetists, Hierophants, Cabalists, -Esoteric Buddhists, and lately Christian-Scientists, I conclude that not any of your correspondents proportion to bulk of body, of the brains in know what they are talking about. Mrs. Eddy is not a discoverer. Her central idea is as old as religion. The Indian Yogi has it, more and Museum for the week, ending the 19th clearly than she. Occult science shows that The slight increase in bulk of brain matter in January, 1908, shows that of non-Chinese there all matter is illusion, but Christian Science cannot cure or help anybody till he or she becomes Mahatma. All desire must be e'in nated, or meddling makes disaster. potentiality of the will is immense.

CONCERT AT LUSITANO CLUB.

Nothing but praise can be written of the concert held in the picturesque hall of Camoous at the Lusitano Club last night. The concert was promoted by the Sociedade Philarmonica assisted by friends, and the progamme was one of high-class vocal and instrumental music which was greatly appreciated by the large attendance. The orchestra opened with as erthe recognition of indebteduess to the A'l-Love; | cellent rendering of "Marcha Tannhauser," further, that in the majority of cases the and Mr. F. X. Lopes pleased with his song "The payment is more nominal than anything else. Last Watch." The intermezzo 'L)ve's Dream after the Ball," was prettily rendered by the Hongkong, to need help from a practitioner in | Misses Angela Alves, J. Remedios, M. Barradas and Mesdames F. M. da Silva, F. B. da Silva, readily given, the offer of payment was refused, L. Ribeirio, R. Guttierrez aid H. Remedies (mandolins), Misses E. R. Aquino and M. Ribeiro, (Portuguese guitars), Miss C. Ribeiro and Mesdames E. Remedies, F. Ribeiro and as the truest gratitude in Science is impersonal. J. Rozario (Spanish guitars). Miss Edith am also aware of one instance where a Carvalho's beautiful voice was heard to advantage in a swent Italian song, and in response to a much desired encore she sing "Goodbye for ever" in Spanish. Miss cecilia Ribeiro's violin solo "Madrigale" was played with much skill and so was Miss Sara Alvas' pianoforts solo "Ronde Capricioso." The orchestra followed with two selections, and then Miss Angela Alves earned applause for her sweet rendering of the song "Mia Piccerella". The young ladies of the orchestra "'[yra" obliged again and were as successful as on the first occasion. Mr. Lapss singing of 'Nirvan' was much admired and Mr. F. Gonzalez proved kimself a master of the cello by his rendering of the solo "Au Printemps." The Sociedade Philarmonica concluded a most enjoyable concert with the selection "Aroldo." The promoters deserve credit for bringing the last of many excellent concerts to a successful termination.

> THE QUALITY OF THE INTELLECT.

WHITE MATTER, NOT GREY.

If the published synopses of Dr. Edward Anthony Stipzka's treatise on human brains, just issued by the American Philosophical Society at Philadelphia, are accurate, the theory hitherto accepted that "grey matter" determines the quality of the intellect must be medified or discarded. Dr. Stipska finds in the white matter of the callosum, the great commissure or bridge uniting the hemispheres ofthe cerebrum, with fibres radiating into all its parts, the factor that determines the brain's fineness and usefulness. Idiory and mental insufficiency have their seat in the disease, injury, or imperfect development of this central

But the possession of a good callosum, as the 'New York Times 'points out, may be accompanied by extraordinary convolutions and amount of brain material. Dr. Spitzka finds the brains of to ally unskilled men lightest, and slightly heavier those of mechanics, clerks business men, and teachers. Highest of all in point of brain weight are "the geniuses of the pencil, brush, and sculptor's chisel, the mathematicians, scholars, and statesmen " The configuration of the brain is determined according to the work it does, special types being produced in abstract thinkers, experimenters, and artists. In the dark, backward, and abysm of timethe Miccene age, to be specific the ancestors of man, of the horse, and the great mammals began rapidly to evolve larger brains, which were originally about one-eighth the size, in their modern descendents. When in early paleolithic times the Juli in this development came, man had relatively a bigger and more educable brain than all his animal competitors. the civilised races, as compared with the cranial measurements of savages, does not nearly account for the mental disparities. But Dr. Spitzka's researches disclose differences in structure and adaptation of parts which show So an- I the way in which evolution is turning.

SHIPPING "RINGS."

The Royal Commission on Shipping "Rings" held a further sitting at Windlester House, St. James's square under the chairmanship of the said he thought the Americans had made a Right Hon. Arthur Cohen, R.C.

Mr. John McLaren, senior partner in the firm himself as an aggrieved trader. His complaint, by atem in the trade with Calcutta and Rangoon, he said, was that shipping rates were too high, and that these unreasonable rates were rendered rings, with or without rebates, had proved to possible and maintained by the combina-tion of shipowners, who formed a large frust with the double object of raising prices and stifling competition. One of their most powerful weapons was the system of deferred rebates. He did not wish the shipping companies to carry at a loss, and he knew that many shipowners complained that their balance-sheets showed that their businesses did not appears well. He that their businesses did not envery well. He steamers, sailing at regular intervals, full or not could only answer that in spite of the balance. full, booking cargo forward, and allowing ship sheets many of the owners of the big lines pers to cancel bookings without penalty, amassed enormous fortunes.

The Chairman: Thon, if in your trade there are some men extremely rich, you will allow me to infer that your trade is a flourishing trade? - | It would be prima facie evidence. (Laughter.) Why do not merchants combine and oppose the combination of shipowners?-I do not see how they could make any effectual resistance. The shipowners hold the trump card—the deferred relates. The only effective combination of shippers would be by starting rival lines; but it is a difficult thing to get shippers scattered Il over the country to combine.

cessive?-We find that the rates charged by league. This amount as accompanied by conference steamers are 50 per cent higher than a statement to the effect that the election of the those charged by non-conference vessels. For instance, the rates to Argentina to day are 35s ency signifies for the Bavarian members the by conference steamers and 22, 6d by non-conference steamers. I ship largely by non-coa-

Why could not others do as you have done in this case ? - We do our own shipping. If we employed a shipping agent he could not ship by non-conference steamers.

Mr. Austen Taylor, M.P.: What non conference steamers have you been alluding to?-The Manchester liners.

Mr. Owen Paillips, M P.: Is it not a fact that the Manchester liners have been quoting abnormally low rates in order to fight their way into the River. Plate trad ?-- I do not know. They are outside the "ring," and therefore I support them.

Witness went on to state that in his experience the cost of conveying a traction engine from London or Southampton to South - Africa amounted to as much as 10 per cent of its actual value. The rates from Germany and the United States to South Africa were lower than from England. In his opinion, freights should be regulated with some regard to the value of the services rendered. It was absurd to pay 25s per ton from Barrow to Belfast, when goods of similar quality could be carried to Alexandria for just over one-half that rate.

Lord Inversiyde asked whether the 25s rate to Belfast did not include, and the 15s rate to Alexandria exclude, dock dues?

Witness replied that the rate to Alexandria inclu ed landing on the quay. He admitted that this difference in rates had nothing to do with deforred rebites. He had sim ly referred to them as showing that freights were capricions.

Lord Inverslyde: Would you recommend that the Government should be asked to make deferred rebates illegal? Yes. I do not like Government interference, but I think deferred relates are an immoral system, and should be abolished.

You would not like the Government to interfere in your trade?-They do in many ways. But not in prices?-No. Mr. Birchenough: Doyou think Parliament should be allowed to adjust freights?-No. We should have mutual agreement, but there can be no mutual agreement when it is forced down your throat.

In the course of further evidence, Mr Mo-Laren expressed an opinion that the large shipping companies were improving their passenger and mail services at the expense of the traders. He believed that goods could be carried at much lower rates if it were not for the huge expense of running high speed mail boats.

Mr. E. B. Tredwen, of Manchester, who gave evidence in April last, was recalled. He stated that as a result of a meeting of Manchester merchants, held on July 18 last, an Australasian Merchants' Association had been formed, That association had occupied much time indiscussing with the Shipowners' Conference the alteration of the freight tariff, and had induced the shipowners to agree to an assimilation of the rates on most lines of cargo between the United Kingdom and Melbourne or Sydney. The essence of sound co-operation between merchants and shipowners was, in his opinion, "give and take" on both sides. The evidence showed that the shipowners in the Australasian trade had not been making excessive profits, and though the original request of the merchants had been that the Melbourne rates should be reduced to the Sydney level, they had, in view of the advance in the price of bunker coal agreed to the assimilation of rates by some advance in Sydney rates. No settlement had been arrived at in regard to the preference of 2: 6d given by the White Star Line to cargo carried from New York with transhipment at Liverped, to Australssia, over goods carried direct to Australasia from the United States or Liverpool. No doubt the lower freights h d helped to divert trade to America in the case of goods manufactured in the United States, but le agreed with the chairman that it was a matter which had nothing to do with the question of relates. The White Star Line declared that, unless they charged a rate which was 2s 6d lower than that charged direct, they would be unable to get any considerable share of the imerican

By Lord Inverslyde: He considered that, where wisely and fairly e rried out, the conference system was advantageous to British trade, and secured the trade of the world to British merchants. Alluding to the combination of the Tyser Line with the German companies - which be regretted as introducing a foreign competition in the carrying trade from the United States, previously carried on by British steamers—the witness expressed the. opinion that had there been an effective system of relates from New York to Australiais, the Germans would have found it very difficult, if not impossible, to get into that trade

In answer to Mr. Oswald Sanderson, the witness said the merchants only asked that they should not be charged a higher rate from Liverpool than their American competitors were charged when shipping via Liverpool. He admitted that their sentimental grievance would be removed if the White Star Line ran a service direct from New York, instead of choosing to fight for the maintenance of their who provided the bulk of the cargo, a higher rate for a considerably shorter service. Replying to Mr. Maddia n, M.P., witness mistake in abolishing deferred rebates.

Mr. A. S. Gladstone, who said he had had of J. and H. McLaren, of Leeds, general engine- twenty-five years' experience in Calcutta and in ers and makers of traction engines, appeared as Loudon in the firms of Mosrs. Gillauders, a witness on behalf of the Leeds Chamber of Arbuthnot, and Co, Calcutta and Rangoon, Commerce and of the Agricultural Engineers' and Messrs. Ogilvy, Gillanders and Co., Lon-don, He also described don and Liverpool, spoke as to the influence possible and maintained by the combina- be, and would always be, beneficial to trade, without protecting themselves from outside competition in some way. A deferred rebute system seemed to be a logical conclusion. The commission adjourned until February.

THEGERMAN NAVY.

THE SPLIT IN THE LEAGUE.

Berlin, December 13. The Bavar an section of the Navy Lague unounces through its committee that in agreement with the action of Prince Ruprecht of Why do you say that the freights are ex- Buaria it has determined to records from the political agitator General Kaim to the presidendorsement of tactics which they consider to be inconsistent with the juterests of the league and of the country.

In a newspaper interview General Keim defends his attitude, and after citicizing what he considers to be the inadequacy of the latest naval programme of the Government, declares his intention of sticking to his post. The Golog e Gazette, in an elaborate leading article, deplores the crisis in the league and the inexpediency of allowing the differences which bave arisen to become a cause of estrangement between the Prussians and the Bavarians. Although the Rhanish journal naturally sympathized with the motives of General K-im's political action during the recent general election, it thinks that his appointment as president was calculated to imperit the interests of the Navy League and to encourage its adversaries. On the other hand, at a public meeting under the auspices of the Berlin Colonial Society which was held on Tuesday evening, General Keim and Count, eventlow expressed themselves with their usual vig ur in favour of a naval programme more ambitious than that of the Government. One of the speakers, who is a member of the Reichstag, declared that General Keim was backed by the sympathies of a million and a half of Germans, and that he did not need to care if "somebody in Munich! was displeased with his agitation. The Vossische Zeitung thereupou pointed out that the "somehody in Munich" is a Prince who is destined one day to wear the Bavarian Crown. Now "the Navy League owes the greater part of its membership neither to its own energy nor to its president, but to the favour and the sympathy of the reigning Houses of Germany. It is therefore a reckle-sproceeding to intensify the opposition between Berlin and Munich and between Prussia and the Southern States by animadversions such as those which have been directed against Prince Ruprecht." The Vossische Zeitung also remarked that "the agitation conducted by the president of the league has been characterized be a Chauvinism which paid as little regard to the economic resources of the nation as to the necessities of foreign policy." There was some discussion on the subject in the Budget committee of the Reichstag to-day and the language of some of the extreme naval Chanvinists and of their organs in the Press was repudiated by the National Liberal Dr. Pansche and by the Conservative Baron von Richthofen.

Prisoner pleaded not guilty, and the following jurors were called:-J. G. W. Hullmann (foreman) A. Ritchie, O. Meyer, M. A. A. Sonza, E. Hyndman, R. S. Judah and H. A. Watson.

The Hon. Mr. W. Rees Davies, Attorney General, instructed by Mr. G. E. Merrel (of the Crown Solicitor's office) appeared for the Crown the prisoner being defended by Mr. H. G. Calthrop, who was instructed by Mr. P. W Goldring (of Messrs, Golding and Barlow).

The Actorney-General stated that the prisoner was charged with the murder of one Cheung Fuk. The deceased was a married man, but had been living with the prisoner for five or six years, having separated from his kit fat. The prisoner, it appeared, had a paramour named Ng Nin who had now left the Colony, and deceased strongly objected to the relationship existing between her and Ng Nin. On-November 16th deceased and his nephew returned home at one o'clock in the afternoon which was earlier than his usual hour. When he reached home he met Ng Nin coming down stairs, and the latter on seeing him, ran away. Deceased and his nephew then proceeded upstairs to see the prisoner. A quarrel took place, and it appeared that the deceased finally beat the prisoner with an umbrella. All these facts would be spoken to by the nephew. Or November 17th the nephew went to deceased's house sgain and found him rolling on his bed in agony and apparently unable to speak. He rolled from the bed on to the ground, and his. nephew lifted him up and asked in the presence of the prisoner what was the matter with him He was unable to speak, but he pointed to the prisoner, then to his mouth and then to a small bowl on the table. Prisoner tried to run out of the hoose with a box belonging to the deceased, but his nephew stopped her and questioned her as to what had taken place, but she gave no answer. Later the nephew again: found the prissoner toying to run away and to carry off deceased's box, which contained $30 He took her back to the room and whon he get there he found that deceased was dead. A Chinese constable was then placed in charge o the house, and deceased's nephew went and reported the occurrence at No. 7 Police Station. On his return to the house he found that small bowl had been removed; he would tell the Court that he previously examined this bowl, which contained a black liquid. He dipped his finger in this liquid, tasted it, and found it had a very bitter taste, Next day, on searching the house, the nephew found a bundle of leaves hidden under some firewood, When the police arrived and searched the premises they found a small basin and a cooking pot they also found theman dead and the woman very ill. She was removed to the Government Civil Hospital, where she arrived in a semi-conscious condition, and the doctor would say that the symptoms from which she was suffering were those of vegetable poisoning. A little girl would be called who would say she saw her mother put some green leaves into the basin. and pour some liquid into it, which she gave to deceased. She would also say that she saw her

ELLIS KADOORIE CHINESE SCHOOLS SOCIETY.

HONGKONG CULLEGE PRIZE DISTRIBUTION.

His Excellency the Governor and Lady Lugard presided at the annual distribution of prizes of the Ellis Kad oorie Hongkong College held yesterday morning. There were seated with the Governor and Lady Lugard on the platform Mr. A. J. Brackenbury, Private Secretary, Mr. Ellis Kadoorie, Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, Inspector of Schools, and Mr. Lau Chu-pak, while the body of the room in which the distribution took place was well filled with visitors, including many ladies.

Mr. BRAIDWOOD said -Your Excellency. Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen-It is with much pleasure that I present to you the seventh annual report of the Society's Hongkong factory progress during the year. Last year College, recording as it does an extraordinary he said that the English of the upper forms increase in point of numbers over the attendance of any previous year. For the purposes of the Government Grant in aid of the scheme the College year closes on the last day of June. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, in the absence of Mr. E. A. Irving, conducted the annual examination on behalf of the Government and reported on the 26th July. [Report read. Mr. Wolfe recommended a grant at the rate of 30s.]

Mr. Braidwood, after dealing with a few points in the report, said: The faculty which | fourth place-but at the same time the Inspector Chinese youths possess of memorizing facts of Schools tells us that great interest was and phrases accounts in many instances for similarity in the wording of answers.

possible marks and 420 passed=93.5 per cent. The outstanding features of the examination were (a) the signal failure of the two highest forms in the piece of unseen Dictation (b) the almost total collarse of class IV in the Grammar paper and (c) the remarkably good results throughout in English collequial. The last mentioned is particularly gratifying as it realizes to a great extent our principal ideal which is to produce English speaking students. Mr. BRAIDWOOD then asked the Governor to present the prizes,

His Excellency, who on rising was greeted with applause, said-Ladies and gentlemen. The day before yesterday, on Saturday, I had the pleasure of distributing prizes at the District Schools, and I took occasion to remark | Council, the staffand the scholars, thanked His on the extremely rapid growth in numbers Excellency and Lady Lugard for attending which had characterised the past year. But I He was sure both pupils and teachers had taken think this school can boast on the whole a more to heart the eminently good advice rapid growth, the most rapid growth, of any tendered by His fixcellency to keep the form school in the Colony. I note it was established of the schools in this Colony up to the standard only seven years ago, and in 1903-1904 the average of the public school form at home. He could attendance was 186. I hope that will be maintained during the remaining six months still to run. I quote theselfigures of the average of his licence by carrying three stink pots on attendance rather than the total number of board. Defendant said he bought the junk only pupils in the school because I think the true recently, and did not know he was infringing index is the average attendance and not the maximum enrolment on the books. As regards that we have been told that the number has now reached 564, I think. That is to say that the school has now reached a position second only to that of Queen's College, Large new buildings were erected last year, but we have heard from the Inspector of Schools that the space in the old wing is still congested. I hope those who have the interests of this school at heart and support it will take into consideration this fact, and perhaps even further extensions to meet the growing needs may be oreased, but we have heard it also has become hardly sufficient for the rapidly grow. ing needs of the school, and we have heard from the headmaster that two more Eng. lish teachers are on the way. That will bring the total staff to a headmaster, five English mas ters and eleven Chinese. The report that we have just listened to is on the whole very satisfactory. The Inspector of Schools has told us that he can report satiswas "quite unusually good." Those were his words. I am glad to see that this year that standard appears to be well maintained. I note in the headmaster's report that at his last examination the averges for. English were the highest of any; the average for English colloquial was as high as 184 per cent; for writing 97, I think. I also noticed with great interest the excellent report on bygiene Wby I say excellent—the school only obtained manifested in the subject. My prodecessor took great interest in this subject, and claim that mine is not less. We are now endeavouring in every way we can to obtain the hearty and cordict oc-operation of the leading members of the Chinese community in our efforts to improve the sanitation of this Colony. and in our efforts especially, I would say, to tional trained teachers who are expected to trust the carrying out of our designs for the improvement of the sanitation to the Chinese on last year when the numbers were $2 and 61 this improvement of hygiene and sanifation (appliance). The year is drawing to a close and from a purely business point of view may be considered ended, as of the seven remaining days three are holidays. 1907 has not realized the hopes entertained at its opening; the high tide of commercial and industrial activity has turned and is now to all appearances receding and most pessi mistic views are being expressed here as to the fu'ure. The times of fini-hing during the greater part of the last twelve months, the apathy of the stock, exchanges, the low stand of almost all securities and the recent heavy failures have cast a gloem over commercial circles and that the year has not been a generally prosperous one is amply proved by the complaints of shopkeepers and others with regard to the Christmas trade and furthermore by a muked diminution in the number of social "Colleen" thus won an exciting race with gatherings and winter festivities. "I feel I should not be doing my duty to others if I refrain from telling you how Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment saved my boy's life. My boy is five years old, and for the last eighteen months his mother and I have been worried a great deal, owing to eczema, I have tried all kinds of remedies for the boy without any result. Under doctor's treatment he seemed to get worse, I took him to the infirmary and also to the hospital, without obtaining any benefit. We gave up all hope of the boy being cured, until we saw an advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies and the wonderful results that they had performed, so I determined to give the Cuticura Remedies a trial. After the use of one cake Cuticura Soap and one box Cuticura Ointment the improvement was marvelous, and after using mother cake of Cuticura Soap and one box Cuticura Ointment he was thoroughly cured, and still remains so.
